Charles Owen Helmets

There is a popular misconception that building a helmet safer is all about making it stronger. In protecting the head from the most damaging injuries, it's about building a helmet with resilience to endure the multiple impacts of a real life accident. Too strong a helmet can result in all of the damage being done to your brain. Charles Owen is the only manufacturer that has a wide range of helmets that are independently certified to the most recognized standards in the world. Our mission is to use our expertise to protect the riders of the future from helmets that are too stiff and that may cause neck injury due to their bulk.

In riding a bond is formed between horse and rider, a harmony. The rider feels what mood and shape the horse is in, and the horse feels the rider. The rider communicates this intention with the body and especially with the hands. This is why riding gloves must never lesson the sensitivity. Top functional materials like ROECK-GRIP® were developed especially for riding gloves. Strong yet are very thin, supple and elastic, while providing an excellent grip on the reins.

The Chester is a German-designed synthetic leather glove by Roeckl® combines style and versatility. Textured palm, Velcro® brand closure. Machine washable. Imported. In black, white, caramel/mocha, black/brown & black/white. Sizes S (6 1/2-7), M (7 1/2-8), L (8 1/2)
